

School of Medicine

Center for Molecular Medicine and Genetics

Division of Clinical Genetics

Genetic Counseling Graduate Program

Webinar: Preparing your GC Program Application

Wednesday, October 9th, 2019
2:00-3:30 PM EST

Are you applying to genetic counseling programs for fall 2020 admission?

Join Angela Trepanier, Director, and Erin Carmany, Associate Director of the Wayne State program for an interactive webinar where we will:

- Review the genetic counseling program application and admission process.
- Describe characteristics of successful genetic counseling program candidates.
- Discuss strategies for developing a strong application and having a successful admissions interview.
- Answer your questions about admissions.

Space is limited, so register early.
Contact Lydia Knight to RSVP
(313) 577-6298 or lknight@med.wayne.edu

If you are still exploring genetic counseling as an option and want more general information about profession from the perspective of the program directors, genetic counseling faculty and students, join us for one of our in-person summer open houses. Check our website in late April-early May for details.